

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF ANTHROPOLOGY

Vol. 23 - n. 3 - 4 - 2008

---

Preface	149 - 150
Medda-Windischer Roberta Old and New Minorities: Still a Valid Dichotomy	151 - 172
Boeckmann Klaus Börge Old and New Languages. The Role of Languages in Migration and Integration	173 - 183
Briziç Katharina Educational Profit through Language Loss? A Sociolinguistic-Explorative Answer To Open Questions in Migration and Education Research	185 - 196
Müller Romano, Rösselet Stephan Interventions for the Improvement of Cognitive-Academic Language Proficiency and School Success of Bilingual Migrant Students in the View of Experts	197 - 220
Wölck Wolfgang Diglossia , Stable Bilingualism and Minority Language Maintenance	221 - 232
Laghzaoui Mohammadi Arabic as a Minority Language in the Netherlands: A Socio-Linguistic Approach	233 - 245
Ó Giollagáin Conchúr Linguistic Dimensions of the Globalised Frontier: Old and New Minorities in Contact and in Context	247 - 260
Veronesi Daniela Languages and Language Learning in South Tyrol: Some Data from Italian Speakers' Language Biographies	261 - 274
Putz Magdalena Approaching Linguistic Complexity in Medical Care	275 - 284
Zabielska Karina State Language Policy versus Minority Protection Challenges of the 'Big' Polish Minority within the 'Small' Lithuanian Majority	285 - 298

---